For Diamondhead development

Supervisors okay $6 million project

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT
The Hancock County Board of Supervisors gave a preliminary go-ahead Friday to a $6 million shopping development at Diamondhead.

Developer Gene Yelverton of Jackson says the project would create about 200 new jobs in the county and should generate approximately $1 million a year in sales tax revenues.

In a recess session Friday afternoon the board unanimously adopted a resolution stating its intention to cooperate in the project and directing that a public hearing on the matter be held at 10 a.m. Nov. 14.

At the hearing the board will discuss the issuance of bond anticipation notes and subsequent issuance of permanent bonds, in amounts not to exceed $7 million each, by Hancock County Economic and Industrial Development Association Incorporated.

This yet-to-be-formed non-profit corporation will be organized to issue the bonds to finance acquisition of land and construction of the retail outlet mall.

According to Yelverton, the shopping center will duplicate the Factory Outlet

Mall which he is developing in Ridgeland.

Yelverton estimates completion of the Diamondhead project in 1985.

He said there would be no financial obligation on the part of the county and the county's bonded indebtedness would not be affected.

The project would be added to the ad valorem tax rolls at current rates.

Hancock County would receive all property at termination of the debt, and the Board of Supervisors would have to approve both the length and amount of

Borg-Warner complains regarding proposed neighbor

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

A Port Bienville Industrial Park plastics manufacturer is complaining a proposed nearby drilling mud drying operation will foul its automated plant.

A letter from Paul Vegas of Borg-Warner Chemicals, Inc. read to Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission members Thursday night said barium sulfate dust produced by the proposed processing plant would adversely affect the company's product.

The commission manages the industrial park.

Borg-Warner is now seeking a State Department of Natural Resources Bureau of Pollution Control permit to continue temporary storage of hazardous wastes at its plant site.

Wayne Anderson of Jackson, BPC South Air Emissions Section coordinator, said Friday that Curtis North America, Inc. is planning to erect the processing plant on 10 acres leased from the commission adjacent to Borg-Warner's Port Bienville plant.

He said the proposed industrial park facility has been issued a BPC permit to dry waste drilling fluid for recycling as drilling mud or disposal.

Curtis Johnson, president of Mississippi Pumping Service, Inc. of Hancock, organized Curtis North America in which Clyde Davis, formerly of the State Oil and Gas Board, serves as president, he noted.

Mississippi Pumping operates a waste drilling fluid containment pit near the west end of Firetower Road.

Victor Franckiewicz, a commissioner, explained at the Thursday night meeting that Vegas fears dust from the proposed processing plant's bagging operation will filter into Borg-Warner's automated equipment causing costly failures.

Borg-Warner has taken steps to reduce dust in the area by paving shell roadways and sodding barren areas on its property, the commissioner reported.

Franckiewicz said Borg-Warner also fears sulfur dioxide emitted into the air by the processing plant's dryer, fired by either natural gas or fuel oil, will cause acidic dew which would prematurely corrode metal at the plastics plant.

But Anderson reported Friday that the barium sulfate dust is a heavy inert substance which in the bagging process should not be blown far by wind.

He said the BPC has no regulations regarding the bagging process as long as the material is not spilled.

"If the dust is dropped on the ground it's not going to blow around enough to harm anything," he stated.

Anderson said the sulfur dioxide emission will be such a low level that a "complicated" BPC air quality analysis is not needed.

He revealed that Curtis North America initially requested a permit for an incineration process, but the company opted for the drying system after BPC explained the first proposal would be extensively reviewed, strictly regulated and closely monitored by the state.

Franckiewicz urged the commission to carefully consider the location of future industries so dust and gas emissions "do not interfere" with existing plants.

James DeBlanc, commission executive director, said he would meet with the two industry officials and BPC personnel in an attempt to resolve the matter.

Regarding Borg-Warner's hazardous waste storage permit, Sam Mabry in Jackson, BPC Solid Waste Division assistant director, said Friday that the plant has been storing the material which was authorized in a temporary

To accommodate World's Fair visitors

Construction underway on NSTL Center addition

As the countdown leading to the 1984 Louisiana World Exposition continues, construction is under way at the NASA National Space Technology Laboratories on an addition to the Visitors Center.

An estimated quarter of a million people are expected to visit the Hancock County Center next year.

Groundbreaking ceremonies were conducted recently for the addition under a banner decorated with the official Mississippi and World's Fair logos and stating "T-206 days and counting."

The fair will open May 12, 1984.

The 4,500 square foot, two-level addition is being constructed adjacent to the existing Visitors Center facility which each year attracts larger numbers of visitors. Completion of the project is scheduled for March 31, 1984.

Jerry Hlaas, NSTL director, told the groundbreaking ceremony crowd that the 90,000 visitors to NSTL last year was an increase of 50,000 when the Visitors Center program began three years ago.

"We expect this trend to continue, but the catalyst that brought the need for expansion was the forthcoming World's Fair." Of the estimated 11 million people who will attend the fair, approximately 250,000 are expected to visit NSTL.

"We intend to be ready for them at that time," Hlaas said.

"It is our sincere desire that these educational visits will excite and inspire the coming young generation to pursue careers in science and engineering, which signify the high technology era that has dawned with the Space Age."

Rep. Jim Simpson of Long Beach, vice chairman of the Mississippi World's Fair Council, told the crowd that the addition to the Visitors Center

"is symbolic of the entire effort here" and noted the "unbelievable success of all your activities here."

Turning his attention specifically to a school group from Pearlington visiting the center on a field trip, Simpson said, "All of these efforts are devoted to the benefit of your future and to the betterment of your lives."

George Williams, director of the Mississippi Department of Economic Development's Division of Tourism, complimented and congratulated NSTL on its Visitors Center program and new addition and said that the Center is part of the product that the state will offer to the World's Fair visitors.

"We have the opportunity of reaching 1.5 million new visitors," he said, calling the fair "a staging ground" to present the story of Mississippi "in the name of the future."

Also representing the state was Tish Hlaas of the Mississippi World's Fair Council.

Mississippi Congressman Trent Lott, who was unable to attend the ceremonies, sent Hlaas a telegram congratulating NSTL on its "move to enhance its Visitors Center facility in order to better serve the public."

The addition planned will increase the center's capability for accommodating a variety of individuals and groups who need the opportunity to learn about NSTL and its outstanding resident agencies," Lott said.

Following the remarks, ground for the addition was broken by Hlaas, NSTL—Page 5A

Ladners get $500 fine and suspended sentence

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT

The current term of Circuit Court ended Friday, to reconvene in January when the grand jury meets.

Deputy Circuit Clerk Pamela Metzler says a special court session will be held beginning Nov. 28 for the trial of Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett on charges of fraud and conspiracy.

Bennett is accused of using labor and materials from a street project for work on his home during the summer of 1978.

He is also accused of conspiring with Donn Murray, also of Bay St. Louis, to perform the work and represent it as authorized expenditures for city construction.

Friday, on motion by Assistant District Attorney John O. (Sonny) Ladner, charges against Louis Ladner and Woodrow Ladner, former Hancock County School Board members, were reduced from felony to misdemeanor.

measor for failure to perform duties of office.

The two men were indicted for fraud in connection with expense vouchers for a trip taken in July, 1981.

Both men pled guilty to the misdemeanor charges.

Circuit Judge J. Ruble Griffin sentenced the men to six months in jail, then suspended the sentence pending one year of good behavior.

Griffin also imposed a fine of $500 each and ordered each man to pay one-half restitution of his expense voucher.

According to Hancock County School Superintendent Terry Randolph, this restitution for district mileage expenses will amount to $177.50 for Louis Ladner and $171.50 for Woodrow Ladner.

Also on Friday, Judge Griffin sentenced a man to seven years in the state penitentiary for burglary of a dwelling.

Why We Can't Renovate The Present Facility.

The construction of a new hospital for Hancock County has been much in the news lately. In order to clarify many points and questions being asked by the public, the Hancock General Hospital Board of Trustees would like to take this means to answer some of these questions.

Did You Know

1. Hancock General Hospital was built in 1960 as a 36-bed facility, with support services for those 36 beds. In 1964, 20 additional beds were added, but no provisions were made to expand the support services.

2. At the present facility, there is a traffic problem due to a lack of improvements to Dunbar Avenue and the traffic from the elementary school across the street. The shopping center at Dunbar Avenue and Highway 90 has created additional traffic problems.

3. During Hurricane Camille in 1969, the hospital received water only in the boiler room, but nothing in the facility itself. But it did become inaccessible due to flood waters filling lowlying areas surrounding the hospital and blocking access roads.

4. According to a building evaluation study done in 1981 by Nix, Mann and Associates, Inc., of Atlanta, Georgia, by request of Hospital Corporation of America, the electrical systems and equipment at Hancock General are in relatively poor condition. Repair and updating would be difficult in many instances due to inaccessibility of parts and ceilings.

5. The mechanical systems in the present building, according to the same study, are 17-23 years old, approaching or exceeding the normal life expectancy of most of the equipment. It is not unreasonable to have major expenditures to replace or make major repairs to the equipment within the next few years.

6. Renovation of the present building would take approximately two years, during which time the hospital could not be operational, since renovation would involve the whole facility. Also there would also be no improvement in flow patterns, and the old systems would be difficult to change due to the present layout, such as the use of the main corridor for visitors, emergency equipment, post surgery and delivery patients, location of the nursery, etc.

7. In order to correct the deficiencies in the present building, it would cost approximately $3-4 million, while the addition of 30,000 square feet would cost another $4-5 million, and these figures do not include the cost of new equipment, estimated at approximately $2-3 million, or the financing cost itself.

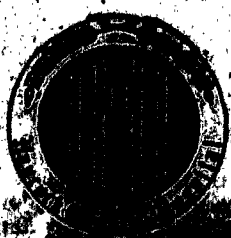

CONCLUSION:

Therefore, a new hospital facility is necessary for the following major reasons:

- The cost of upgrading the present facility.
- The difficulty of adding to the existing structure.
- The age of the original building and systems.

D. The potential benefits of relocating the hospital on a site which would be closer to the geographical center of the community which it serves.

E. The lack of disruption of health care services during construction and renovation.

Jordan gets 10 years

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT
Henry Paul Jordan, convicted of manslaughter on Oct. 20, was sentenced Friday morning to ten years in the state penitentiary by Circuit Judge J. Ruble Griffin.

Prior to sentencing, defense attorney Boyce Holleman moved for a new trial. The shots that killed Robert Hargett, he said, were obviously the result of a struggle. "This verdict, against all the overwhelming evidence, represents a compromise on the part of the jury."

The defense had claimed that Jordan shot Hargett in self defense.

Holleman asked the judge to look at the "totality of the circumstances of the case."

"There are cases in law," he said, "where the court cannot give a directed verdict and must give the case to the jury when he knows he cannot let the verdict stand."

In response, Judge Griffin noted that it was his duty to follow what he perceived the law to be and not to be influenced by any natural sympathy in the matter.

Griffin said he did not find any error in the trial. Overall, he said, he felt that Jordan received a fair trial from a fair jury which was properly instructed.

The evidence, he said, "would in the opinion of the court have supported a verdict of guilty of murder," and he felt compelled to overrule the motion for a new trial.

Jordan could have received a sentence of 20 years.

Griffin said he would cooperate with the Mississippi Department of Corrections and the Parole Board to see that Jordan receives an early release if he is a good prisoner.

Referring to the case as a "very sad" one, Griffin also noted that "the court has an obligation to let people know you can't take the law into your own hands even when there are circumstances that bring out (the strongest) emotions in individuals and cause them to do things they wouldn't ordinarily do."

Hargett, a construction contractor and Baptist pastor, was killed Nov. 12, 1981 when Jordan discovered him with Jordan's wife.

Mrs. Jordan admitted during the trial that she was having an affair with Hargett.

Holleman may appeal the case. He asked for, and received, a delay of one week before Jordan is required to begin his sentence.

Holleman said he would file another motion in the interim.

the debt. Earlier Friday the Board of Supervisors voted unanimously to appoint J.C. Bradford and Company Health Care Group as investment bankers for the Hancock General Hospital construction project.

Calling this move the "first step in moving forward with the hospital," board attorney Walter J. Gex III noted that "we are a long way from selling bonds," and said that the board has the right to cancel at any time.

As investment bankers, J.C. Bradford and Company will be responsible for planning, marketing and selling the bonds.

Gex said there will be no costs involved until the bond issue is completed, and that the fee then will be five to six percent of the total amount of the bonds sold. If the board cancels, it will owe J.C. Bradford and Company only for out-of-pocket expenses.

Board members also voted to engage Gresham, Smith and Partners of Birmingham, Alabama as architectural firm for the hospital project, at a fee of not less than $350,000 and not more than $450,000.

Also Friday morning, the board approved a 25-year lease of approximately 42 acres of Hancock County School District land to Mississippi Power Company for a total rental fee of $412,719. The lease, which begins Nov. 1, includes a renewal option for an additional 25 years.

The board also approved a request from the Port and Harbor Commission to use sheriff's deputies at the commission's guardhouse at Port Bienville Industrial Park.

The guard system will operate on a seven-day-per-week, 24-hour-per-day basis. The commission will pay $5.57 hourly for the service.

In other business, the board:

—approved final plans for Phase 4 of High Point Townhouses in Diamondhead, a condominium-type development containing six lots;

—approved final plans for Catahoula Estates, a subdivision of about 282 acres with lots varying from nine acres up to more than 20 acres;

—accepted Charlie Henderson Ford's low bid of $10,065 for one Crown Victoria S model automobile for the sheriff's office; and —agreed to purchase .29 acres of Sharkey County in lieu land for $150. This property has been part of a Hancock County road just off Highway 603 for some time, and it was only recently discovered that the land actually belongs to Sharkey County.

interim status" state permit.

He explained that the temporary permit is part of a two-step permitting process in which a "more formal permitting process" is now required.

John Herman of Jackson, BPC Solid and Hazardous Waste Section chemical engineer, also explained Friday that Borg-Warner stores 55-gallon barrels containing acrylonitrile and mixed monomers in a "secondary containment area" at the Port Bienville plant site.

He said after enough of the material is accumulated that it is transported to a hazardous waste disposal site in Alabama.

The waste results when Borg-Warner cleans lines containing the toxic acrylonitrile which must be disposed of due to the company's rigid product standards, Herman further explained.

Herman said an inhibitor chemical is also placed in the drums to stop chemical reactions which produce heat and could pressurize the drums.

The BPC also monitors for air pollution where the barrels are stored because the material is toxic to humans and is a potential fire hazard, Herman reported.

"It's a relatively dangerous material," he added.

Steve Spengler of Jackson, BPC industrial wastewater environmental engineer, also noted Friday that Borg-Warner has a state permit to discharge a combination of "cooling tower and boiler blowdown water" which may contain some minerals and chlorine into nearby Mullato Bayou.

In case you did not push your clock back for one hour last night, it is an hour earlier than your clock is telling you.

We have been reminded, as in the past about the falling backward for the Fall time change.

No matter the time used on our clocks, there still is only a certain amount of time with daylight. And the days are getting shorter and shorter right now.

It won't be too long before the days will get longer.

Monday is Halloween and there should be a large number of small children out trick-or-treating.

We hope all motorists will drive with extreme care, especially on the streets where a lot of Halloween events are taking place.

Parents are urged to accompany small children while making Halloween visits.

Happy Halloween to everyone!

While on the subject of Halloween, there are several Spook Houses in the area.

One which is downright spooky is the Krewe of Triton's House of Horrors on Coleman Avenue in Waveland.

As you know, Triton's annual parade is held on Mardi Gras Day to the delight of residents and many visitors. The Krewe has been working hard to improve the spooks, we do not know how, since they have been so realistic in previous years.

The Triton House of Horrors will be open Sunday and Monday nights.

The Krewe uses the funds collected at the spook house towards their Mardi Gras parade.

We hope to see you at the House of Horrors.

We know this is the time of the year for structure fires, but it seems to us that we are having more than in previous years.

Firefighters have been awfully busy in recent weeks as several residences have caught fire.

We hope everyone has their heating systems checked before using them.

One thing we noted while on vacation a couple of weeks ago in Florida, were the many pelicans.

This brought back memories of how pentiful pelicans were in Hancock County not too many years ago. If we are now lucky we may see a flock of pelicans passing through while migrating.

The damages man can do to the environment is evident in the decline of pelicans on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

The Hancock County Fair Grounds will be very active this week with a lot of activities.

The annual county fair runs from Tuesday through Saturday with happenings every day.

On Wednesday night there will be four beauty contests for four different age groups for girls.

This will be the first event of this kind sponsored by the Hancock County Fair and Livestock Association.

The events get underway at 6:30 p.m. and admission is free, so we hope there will be a large attendance.

Matters of Health

MALE INFERTILITY

Two new testing procedures now used to diagnose male infertility are considered major advances because they are much more accurate. The first one tests sperm penetration of the cervical mucus and the second, penetration of the egg. Here's how they work:

Cervical mucus test: The sperm's ability to penetrate cervical mucus and survive is an important measure of fertility. There are two methods to test for this ability - to collect cervical mucus after intercourse or to add sperm to previously collected cervical mucus. This second method is the one used most frequently because of its convenience and greater degree of accuracy.

In this test, the cervical mucus used is bovine, or cow mucus, because the simplicity in using it yields higher accuracy. Human cervical mucus has been used in testing, but this method involves too many other factors which affect sperm penetration and survival.

Egg penetration test: A second new testing procedure useful in determining male fertility is the zona-free egg penetration test. This test is used for males who have had surgery to remove a varicose vein in the scrotum, one case of male infertility. This test determines whether fertility has been achieved.

The egg penetration test is carried out by mixing specially prepared eggs with sperm. Normally fertility is indicated when more than 10 percent of the eggs are penetrated by sperm.

In about 50% of couples who seek medical help, both the man and woman have fertility problems, so both partners must be treated. To diagnose infertility or fertility problems in a man, a physical examination is required and, when necessary, a series of specialized laboratory tests.

Fertility is still a very complex event, and medicine does not have all the answers yet. For couples experiencing marital stress as a result of infertility, psychological counseling may also be suggested.

Boulevard to Main Street, up Main Street to Second, then over to Union Street, down Union to the beach then back to Main Street where the ceremonies will be held on the steps of the Courthouse.

If your marching group, band, float, or other unit plans to parade with us, please call John Wilkerson at 467-6098 or be at the corner of Carroll Avenue and Second Street at 9 a.m. on Nov. 11. We encourage your participation in this tribute to the men and women who served our nation so well.

Freedom of The Press a basic right defended by nation's veterans

Oct. 26, 1983
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Editor:

Freedom of the press is one of the basic liberties which veterans have fought and died for since our nation's beginning.

National Newspaper Week, Oct. 16-22, was set aside to acknowledge your services and accomplishments in the community. It is fitting that the Veterans Administration, the instrument through which the American people acknowledge the significance of our veterans' service and sacrifice, thank you and The Sea Coast Echo for upholding and exercising that basic right of all Americans to the free flow and exchange of ideas and information.

Speaking as director of the Jackson Administration Regional Office, I personally thank you and your staff for the recognition, coverage and support your newspaper gives veterans' affairs.

Nearly two-thirds of the people living in your circulation area are veterans or the parents or survivors of veterans.

As such, they are potentially eligible for important benefits and services delivered through the Veterans Administration.

You provide them a valuable service when you publish information concerning those programs.

Sincerely,
Charles W. Wickes

Publication of campaign promises in one Halloween issue would 'scare bejabbers out of good folk.'

Oct. 27, 1983
Editor
Sea Coast Echo
P.O. Box 230
Bay St. Louis, MS 39520

Dear Sir:

For the Halloween edition the name should be changed to "Sea Ghost Echo" and all the promises of the elected politicians published.

If that wouldn't scare the bejabbers out of our good folk — nothing would! Seriously, we have lost several contacts and one full-sized automobile in the pot holes on Kiln-Delisle and Rotten Bayou roads and the one lane connecting road from Rotten Bayou to the Kiln-Delisle road is a dangerous disaster.

The occupants were saved by the judicious use of fire ladders. In publication, what all the promises have been hidden away for next election, all we poor travelers can say is: "Help!!!"

The People's Business

REASONS FOR HOPE

From news accounts of the past several days it seems the world is crashing in around us. There was the loss of more than 200 American Marines in Lebanon and there was fighting on the island of Grenada.

At home, the state faces a continuing financial crisis; and the economic recovery is slower than some would hope for.

But there is good news.

For example:

U.S. output for the first six months of 1983 grew by 2.9 percent, compared to an average growth of 2.4 percent in the five last economic recoveries.

U.S. payrolls have added 2.5 million workers since the first of the year.

For 1983, the rate of inflation is at about 3.3 percent, far from the double digit rate of just two years ago.

In Mississippi, single family housing construction was up 48 percent over 1982 in the first half of 1983; bank deposits were up by 11 percent, and automobile sales have increased significantly.

So there is good news. Early polls indicated Americans have rallied behind the president's move in Grenada, the national economy is improving steadily, and Mississippi's economy seems to be in a period of recovery, even if at a slow pace.

The point is, the world is not crashing in around us, there is reason for hope, and we can be encouraged that with new commitment, things will be even better.

IN CONGRESS

BONDS FOR JOBS

Congressman Trent Lott, R-Miss., said today he will fight to retain tax-exempt bonds for industrial development in Mississippi.

Lott said he would concentrate his efforts on a Rules Committee meeting Wednesday during which the issue is scheduled to be discussed.

The House Ways and Means Committee has proposed legislation that would severely limit the use of industrial development bonds (IDB's), and the hardest hit states would be primarily rural, sparsely populated ones like Mississippi.

"Industrial development bonds valued at approximately $240 million were used last year to create jobs in Mississippi," Lott said. "They have been an extremely useful and legitimate means of attracting new industry to our state."

"In fact, industrial development bonds are one of the few methods which exist today to help states with no other means of capital formation," he said.

The Ways and Means Committee proposed to severely restrict use of the bonds. The committee bill would limit the volume of bonds to $150 per state resident and would limit companies to a maximum of $40 million in bonds nationally.

"Eight major American corporations used these bonds to help them locate in Mississippi last year," Lott said, adding jobs and payrolls which contributed to the state's tax base.

On a national scale, critics have charged that the bonds helped finance such commercial enterprises as department stores which did not need the help.

In Mississippi, however, use of the bonds is limited by law to manufacturing jobs.

Lott said the Ways and Means Committee bill does not pretend to correct abuses. "It simply limits the available benefits of the program and makes it more difficult for states like Mississippi to attract new industry."

"Responsible states should not be penalized," Lott said. "Successful companies should not be discouraged in their efforts to provide jobs in Mississippi."

Lott, the House Republican Whip, said he expected a fight in the Rules Committee on the issue. "I believe the bill as presented is flawed in many ways and the amendment process may have to be used to correct it."

Use of the bonds was limited in the 1962 tax bill, resulting in a 50 percent reduction in use by smaller companies.

"Mississippi is an attractive state for manufacturing concerns for a number of reasons," Lott said. "I am hopeful that we can retain the full use of these bonds which are an effective tool for bringing jobs to our people."

NATURAL FORCES
"The Making of a Continent," a three-part documentary series, probes the ways in which the earth's continents are constantly being reshaped by natural forces at 8 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 3, on the Mississippi ETV Network.

The series was written by Ron Redfern, the eminent author-photographer whose book "The Corridors of Time" was acclaimed for its lively text and photos tracing the history of the Grand Canyon.

Both the series and the book subscribe to the theories of Alfred Wegener, a geologist who, in the early part of this century, contended that continents move about on the earth's surface and once actually formed a single continent, which he named "Pangea." The TV series demonstrates the feasibility of Wegener's theory of how land masses such as continents are actually living, changing regions.

receiver David LeBlanc for the score with just under four minutes gone in the second half.

In what proved to be the deciding margin, Russ Belcher's conversion was good, and the Rocks held the lead to take the win.

Not about to take the deficit without a fight, the Pirates came back immediately and drove to the Stanislaus 5 yard line on three series.

On fourth and goal, Pass High attempted a field goal, but it fell short of the mark. But the Pirates weren't through. Stanislaus was cited with roughing the kicker, and the Pirates retained possession, first down at the 5.

Realizing it was now or never, a tight Rock defense forced a fumble, and Jerry Kelly recovered to kill the Pirate drive.

The Rocks managed to dash the Pirates' next field goal attempt late in the fourth period to hold onto their 7-6 victory.

For the record book, Pass

High completed 8 of 15 pass attempts with one interception for 85 yards total. Stanislaus completed 5 of 13 for 97 yards.

In rushing, Pass High executed 32 plays for 94 yards to St. Stanislaus' 28 plays for 59 yards.

Pass High punted three times for an average distance of 38.2 yards, and SSC had four for an average of 37.8.

On fumbles, the Pirates bobbled once and lost it, while the Rocks managed to retain possession on their one fumble. Pass High was cited with 7 infractions for a loss of 45 yards. Stanislaus received 4 flags and lost 50 yards.

In total offensive yardage, Pass High amassed a total of 179 against the Rocks' 156.

Next week, the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chows will try for a 5 and 5 season, their best after a long, dry spell, as they face the Vancleve Bulldogs at Vancleve. The win over the Pass Pirates brought the Rock record to 4-5 on the season.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. W.A. Monti of Bay St. Louis. The groom is the son of Margaret Bourgeois of Waveland.

Rev. Curtis Moffat officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Arrangements of pink and lavender lilies, carnations and gladioli decorated the sanctuary while aisle pews were marked with English ivy and white satin ribbon.

Given in marriage by her brother, Billy Monti, the bride wore her mother's wedding gown, which featured a Sabrina neckline, fitted bodice with chantilly lace overlay and long fitted sleeves of chantilly lace which ended in call points. The full bouffant skirt was accented with side panels of French tulle with tiers of scalloped lace.

She wore a wreath of silk sweetheart roses, forget-me-nots and baby's breath with an attached tiered veil of illusion and ribbon streamers.

She carried a colonial style bouquet of white silk roses.

carnations, miniature lilies and stephanotis with white satin ribbon streamers.

Cherri Monti of Bay St. Louis, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Rhonda Smith of Waveland and Sharon Bermond of Bay St. Louis.

The attendants were attired in old-fashioned style gowns of lavender silk each with ruffled neckline and hemline and organza overskirt. They carried nosegays of lavender and orchid silk roses, miniature lilies, stephanotis and lavender ribbon streamers.

Tangle Smith of Picayune, cousin of the groom, was flower girl. She carried a white wicker basket of lavender roses.

Sid LeBlanc of Waveland was best man.

Groomsmen were Gene Moran of Bay St. Louis, cousin of the bride, and Artie Bourgeois of Kenner, La., nephew of the groom.

Ushers were Tommy Bourgeois of Metairie, La., brother of the groom and James Robinson of Bay St. Louis, uncle of the bride.

Mrs. Monti chose for her daughter's wedding a street length dress of burgundy voile accented with a white orchid corsage.

The mother of the groom was attired in a pale grey street length dress trimmed in plum with a white orchid corsage.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Bay St. Louis.

The bride's table held a three tiered wedding cake topped with wedding bells and decorated with lavender wisteria sugar spun flowers, flanked with arrangements of lavender orchids. Similar arrangements adorned with food, punch and guest register tables.

Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Mary Fricke of Waveland, aunt of the groom, Nell Bourgeois of New Orleans, sister-in-law of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Garcia of Clermont Harbor, and Ilene and Elaine LaFontaine.

On return from a wedding trip to Santa Rosa Shores, Fla., the couple resides at Bay Royale Apartments in Bay St. Louis.

Gulfport Area Camellia Society to stage show

The 32nd annual Camellia Show sponsored by the Gulfport Area Camellia Society will bring upward to 1,000 blooms from four coastal states to the event scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 19 and 20 at the Harrison County Courthouse in Gulfport.

Richard Gregory, president of the society from Pass Christian, said exhibitors are expected from at least Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Florida.

The show hours on Saturday, Nov. 19 will be from 3-5 p.m., and on Sunday, Nov. 20 from 1-5 p.m.

Dr. D. Lyle Robertson, show chairman, and his assistant, Millard Carter, said there will be 12 top American Camellia Society awards; eight special awards, and a host of other second, third and fourth place honors.

The ACS trophies will be judged in five categories: Japonica—large to very large, medium, small and miniature; Hybrid with retic parentage—large to very large and medium; Hybrid with non-retic parentage—large and medium; Seeding—non-treated and treated; and, Artistic—two awards.

Eight special awards sponsored by clubs and club members include: Best Bloom in Show, a new Best Plate of Three of a Kind, Table of Honors Awards (third and fourth awards), Best Bloom in Harrison County, Single Show Award, T.S. Clower Award, Evelyn Leeton Artistic Design Award and Best Seeding in Harrison County.

The Evelyn Leeton Award is given for the second year by Bob Leeton for the best arrangement in honor of his mother.

Mrs. Clower again is giving an award for the best bloom of the 20 or more varieties originated by the Clowers. Edgar Little again has a beautiful trophy for any local grower in Harrison County with the best seedling. Anyone who has a pretty bloom from a seedling can enter it on this table.

Another special award for local blooms will be given by Dr. Robertson. Participants may place from one to three blooms on this table, and at least 10 competitors must take part. Those who compete in other shows are now eligible for this special award.

With the exception of this table, any exhibitor may place as many blooms as he wishes on other tables in the show.

"The Best Plate of Three" replaces the former sweepstake award. In this event, exhibitors may take three blooms on anyone variety, preferably from the same plant for a "plate of Three of a Kind." In effect, the best triplets win.

A very special feature of all Gulfport Area Camellia Shows is its artistic design schedule. Mrs. Arnold Kietzer is chairman of this event, which will be on the theme: "East Meets West."

It will have two sections. In Section I, Tricolor Classes, there will be three competitions: (1) flowers of the plum, (2) spring rain, and (3) the butterfly.

In Section II, Creativity—(1) the moon is risen, (2) tall white sails emerge above the bay and (3) this snowy morning.

Rules of the National Council of State Garden Clubs will prevail. Call Mrs. Kietzer at 888-1438 for any specific information an entrant may desire.

Coast DAR to sponsor history essay contest

By JOE PILET
Public Relations NSDAR
The executive board of the Friendship Oak Chapter National Society Daughters of the Revolution were honored at a luncheon given in the home of Mrs. Nunez C. Pilet of Bay St. Louis on Monday.

During a brief business meeting following the luncheon the group made plans to sponsor an essay contest on American History for the sixth grade classes of the Green Acres Elementary School in Long Beach. Mrs. P. R. Davenport of Bay St. Louis serves as chairman of the American History Committee.

Mrs. W. J. Gemmel of Diamondhead who heads a committee of services for Veteran patients asked the group to bring their Christmas gifts for these patients to the next meeting.

Mrs. Nunez C. Pilet was appointed Chapter Resolutions chairman. Several resolutions were suggested which will be group that the President General has selected as her project restoration of Constitution Hall and the Administration Building in Washington, D.C. These buildings serve as headquarters for the NSDAR, cover a block of prime land across from the Washington Monument. Constitution Hall has the largest auditorium in the nation's capital. It seats 3,762 persons. The DAR complex is the largest in the world owned and operated by women. The Friendship Oak Chapter plans a silent auction sale to raise funds to contribute to the restoration project.

The NSDAR, more than 200,000 strong, is the largest women's hereditary patriotic organization in the country. The organization is involved in many activities including contribution of at least $50,000 a year to the support of two schools for American Indians. Each year they pay for the planting of thousands of trees and shrubs on public lands, give scholarships in conservation and contribute money to anti-pollution efforts. The organization through the years has restored several hundred of America's oldest buildings, including Rosalie in Mississippi.

By secret ballot the chapter voted on applications of five potential members whom they will recommend to their membership for final approval.

In addition to Mrs. Elkins, Pilet, Gemmel and Davenport, the members of the Friendship Oak Chapter board include Mrs. A. M. Stendley, R. C. Williams, H. S. Walker Jr. and J. E. Young. A breakfast meeting of the chapter will be held in the Long Beach home of Mrs. Williams on Nov. 7.

HALLOWEEN TRICK-OR-TREATERS—Jerry Hoda, 13, and Shawn, 2, are ready to celebrate Halloween. They say their sister Hollie, 10, has been enjoying the Hoda home at 124 Washington St. in Bay St. Louis.

Park Tours enjoyed by Diamondhead Club

Thirty-two members, including seven husbands, of the Diamondhead Garden Club enjoyed a bus trip to New Orleans City Park and Audubon Park as the program of the club for October. They visited greenhouses where horticulturists are experimenting to create new and harder stock for tomorrow's gardens. With enthusiastic and well-informed guides accompanying them on the tours, all members declared it a delightful learning experience.

A brown bag lunch was enjoyed between parks.

Mrs. R.B. Boatright, president, held a brief business meeting on the return trip. She announced that the Garden of the Month plaque had been given to Mr. and Mrs. Leon McClendon, 88106 Kipapa Way.

A Bonsai Workshop was given at the home of Mrs. Joseph Finley October 26. On Thursday, October 27, the Finley's hosted the annual covered-dish supper that the members give honoring their husbands.

An Executive Board meeting will be held on November 9. Members were asked to take special note of the fact that the regular meeting, November 16, will be held in the Mississippi Room instead of the Aloha Room.

BLUE JEANS GARDEN CLUB

The home of Mrs. Joseph Roppolo was the site of the October meeting of the Blue Jeans Garden Club. Co-hostesses were Mesdames Dorothy Neubig, Rita Davis and Chaire Conway. A luncheon followed.

Members are asked to participate in judging of Thanksgiving and Christmas decorations at the November meeting, which will be held at the Waveland home of Mrs. Mattie Garcia.

Carver. The group officially opened the Fashion Outlet at Market Town Shopping Center Saturday, Oct. 22. Owners Bob and Patti Carver say the store features "harder-to-find larger-sized" women's clothing, but also carries junior and misses' sizes. Originally from Baton Rouge, the Carvers live in Mandeville and also own stores in Covington and Bogalusa. McCaleb, Kingston and Terasi are employees of the Bay store. Gilmore was developer for the project. The mayor drew the name of Nancy Kramer, Long Beach, as winner of the $200 "shopping spree" at Fashion Outlet. (Staff photo by Nan Patton Ehrbright)

Holdings from Versailles, The Louvre and the National Archives of France will be included in "The Sun King: Louis XIV and the New World" to be presented in the museum's Cabildo at 701 Chartres St. from April 29, 1984 through October 1984.

The exhibition is comprised of approximately 190 paintings, objects in precious metals, furniture, ceramics, ironwork, prints, maps, tapestries and manuscripts, all drawn from major public and private collections in France.

The show will present the story of the French King and his central role in the development of Western civilization and the development of Louisiana.

Development of such exhibitions have been the preserve of the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the Smithsonian Institution.

"The Sun King: Louis XIV and the New World" is a clear demonstration that the Louisiana State Museum has come of age as one of the finest museums in the U.S. and as a significant cultural resource for all Louisianians," said Robert Macdonald, museum director.

The Louisiana State Museum is open from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m., Tuesday through Sunday and is closed on Mondays and state holidays.

If you've been wondering what to do with Halloween's Jack O'Lantern after the "trick-or-treat" fun has ended, why settle for the same old pumpkin pie, delicious as that can be?

A favorite at our house - pumpkin pie is not - are crispy, tasty pumpkin chips, as a change from potato chips. Custards, breads and puddings are other uses for Ole Jack after he's done his Halloween service.

Pumpkin, like other winter squashes... yes, it's a member of the squash family... is versatile as a vegetable dish to accompany the main course... baked and glazed, with brown sugar and butter; boiled, drained and mashed and served with butter - and a dash of cinnamon or nutmeg is a tasty addition to cooked pumpkin.

One of my favorite ways to use pumpkin is:

CREAMY, NUTTY PUMPKIN CUBES

4 cups fresh, cooked pumpkin, in cubes
3 cups well-seasoned cream sauce, on the thick textured side
Dashes of pepper, salt (optional)
Blanched almonds or pecans

Dry bread crumbs, optional
Just mix the pumpkin cubes with the warm sauce and seasonings, pour into a baking dish. Dot with butter or margarine. Sprinkle the nuts atop, and I like to add the bread crumbs, also. Bake in a 350° oven for about 20 minutes or more - depending upon the thickness of your cream sauce and such. (You can substitute creamed soup for the sauce; if you wish, but I find it easier to make my sauce than to "de-lump" canned soups).

If the dish isn't golden brown enough on top for your taste, brown it quickly under the broiler till golden, and serve at once. In fact, if your cream sauce is quite hot and thick, you can just brown the dish under the broiler... it all depends.

Tasty, thrifty tip: Don't throw away the pumpkin seeds, they're quite delicious, and a very nice substitute for nuts for munching. Separate the seeds from the stringy portion, and spread them thinly in a shallow pan. Add a generous tablespoon of butter or oil for each cup of seeds.

Roast in a 250° oven for about 20 or 30 minutes or until they're brown and crisp, stirring occasionally during the process, of course, so that they won't stick.

While still warm, sprinkle with salt and pepper - and for me, a bit of cayenne pepper, and serve instead of nuts... and, you're way ahead of the game and the budget, for the seeds were "lagniappe," that little extra from the pumpkin.

P.S. To make the pumpkin chips, pare and seed the pumpkin, and slice thin as for potato chips, soak in ice water or about an hour, drain and pat dry. Fry in deep hot oil till browned, drain on paper towels. Combine salt, pepper and garlic powder and sprinkle over the chips till well coated.

Wood Heaters, Fireplace Inserts And Chimney Fires

Home fires resulting from chimney fires are expected to be increasing within the next few months in Mississippi as we experience colder weather. Wet down the roof and chimney fires result when moisture or prepare to wet flammable creosote and soot down the chimney or the frame deposits in the flues and ing that may begin to smoke chimneys are ignited. Sparks and burn. Do not soak down in flames begin when temperatures get high. By all means, avoid a chimney fire. It is necessary to extinguish flames to avoid injury and do not use the old-fashioned practice of burning the creosote out of the flue.

Heaters, flue pipes, and chimneys are not designed and built to withstand chimney fires, they are only designed for normal to high heat output situations.

After a full-scale chimney fire, extensive repair is usually required to the flue and smoke or fire may have damaged the home.

A thorough cleaning of the chimney is recommended before each heating season and inspect it and clean it afterwards each time creosote deposits around the sides of the chimney reach 1/4 inch anywhere in the chimney.

This may range from monthly to longer. The loose creosote should be removed from the bottom of the flue through a "clean-out" or out of the heater.

Signals of chimney fire are bellowing smoke from the chimney, crackling and popping inside the flue pipe, a roaring noise, and a whistling of air into the heater or cracks of the flue as the draft increases sounding like wind blowing up the flue.

If you do have a heat buildup in the chimney and signs of a chimney fire, call the fire department. Close down dampers on the wood heater, or close fireplace doors.

Discharge a fire extinguisher into the heater or fireplace, throw in any commercial chimney fire extinguishing material that you may have or a large amount of baking soda and close the heater for fireplace doors.

Discharging any water at the intake or down the flue is be increasing within the next risky because it can damage the system. Wet down the roof and chimney fires result when moisture or prepare to wet flammable creosote and soot down the chimney or the frame deposits in the flues and ing that may begin to smoke chimneys are ignited. Sparks and burn. Do not soak down in flames begin when temperatures get high. By all means, avoid a chimney fire. It is necessary to extinguish flames to avoid injury and do not use the old-fashioned practice of burning the creosote out of the flue.

Fireplace inserts that do not connect directly to the flue above the insert pose a problem in cleaning because creosote deposits fall down behind the insert, where they may later burn in a chimney fire. Manufacturers of these units usually recommend taking them out once or more a year to clean behind them.

Sometimes the deposits can be reached with cleaning tools and heavy vacuum cleaners used by chimney cleaning professionals.

If you are selecting a fireplace insert, you may want to reduce the number of times that your unit should be removed from the fireplace. This can be done by selecting a unit that can be installed so that it is connected to the flue at some point above the exhaust of the insert into the fireplace or flue, for example at the damper level.

Also check to see if the fan can be reached without removing the unit from the fireplace if it requires servicing.

You may buy one that does require removing because some do feature easy removal and installation, check to see just how easy this procedure is because some of the units are quite heavy and there is usually an additional charge for service calls.

If you have not done so, check your wood heating installation to make sure that it is a safe one, using fire department personnel, reputable wood heat dealer, or information from your county Extension office. All flue leaks should be repaired and deteriorated pipes, broken thimbles, or other parts replaced.

ETV Brief

MR. ROGERS

There is unrest in "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood." Host Fred Rogers continues to address sensitive and important issues in his series for preschoolers when five new programs on the threat of war are telecast Nov. 7-11.

"Mister Rogers' Neighborhood" can be seen on Mississippi ETV at 4 p.m., weekdays.

In recent months Fred Rogers has done other special programs on divorce, death, violence and competition.

"Conflict," says Rogers, "is no stranger to little children. They know that disagreements can sometimes lead to fighting."

In his new week of programs on conflict beginning Nov. 7, he says he hopes young viewers will come to understand how disagreements occur and how they might be prevented.

In the new programs on conflict, King Friday XIII, ruler of the Neighborhood of Make-Believe, sees one small, mechanical-looking part that is being manufactured in the Neighborhood factory. From what he hears and the questions that he asks, King Friday decides that these parts ordered by neighboring Southwood are "bomb parts." He asks all the Neighbors to prepare for war.

But Lady Elaine Fairchilde and the Lady Aberlin convince the King to allow them to visit Southwood. When they arrive, they learn a valuable lesson about knowing all the facts before drawing conclusions.

Former Hancock agent takes national award

Five Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service staff members, including former Hancock County Agent John Smith of Bay St. Louis, received national awards at the recent 68th annual meeting of the National Association of County Agricultural Agents in Wichita, Kan.

The Distinguished Service Award, the group's highest honor, went to Smith, retired county agent of Hancock County; Thomas P. Nichols, county agent of Quitman County; Frank Ainsworth, associate county agent of Winston County; and Dr. Don Blasigame, Extension plant pathologist.

Malcolm Broome, assistant county agent of Forrest County, received the NACAA Achievement Award for association members who have been in the Extension Service fewer than 10 years.

All five Extension employees were nominated by fellow members of the Mississippi Association of County Agricultural Agents.

Smith, who worked with Extension for 28 years, was selected for the honor on the basis of his organizational skills in the areas of both production and marketing of agricultural products.

He organized the Gulf Coast Pork Producers Association and reorganized the Hancock Cattlemen's Association.

Smith also organized the Hancock Farmer's Market and a watermelon marketing station in the county.

In addition, Smith organized the county fair and livestock show and set up an annual farm-city tour. Smith is a graduate of Mississippi State University.

A 16-year veteran of MCEs, Nichols was cited for outstanding educational programs in rice, cotton, and soybean production and marketing. He also conducts county meetings for agribusiness leaders and farm supply dealers.

Nichols is director and membership chairman for the Mississippi Association of County Agricultural Agents in the Northwest District. He is also state hospitality committee chairman for NACAA. Nichols holds bachelor's and master's degrees from Mississippi State University.

Ainsworth, who joined MCEs 18 years ago, was recognized for programs promoting improvement of herd quality for both dairy and beef farmers. He promoted a county cattlemen's association and helped organize a county dairy association.

An active 4-H leader, Ainsworth coached three state winning horse judging teams and one dairy judging team. Because of his leadership, county 4-H'ers have won the over-all high point trophy at the State 4-H Horse Show for five years.

Ainsworth received a bachelor's degree in agriculture education and a master's degree in Extension education from Mississippi State University. He is district chairman of the 4-H Youth Committee and Junior director of the Northeast District Agents Association. He is also membership chairman of the organization.

Blasigame helped develop a soybean cyst nematode control program that saves farmers millions of dollars annually. The program has resulted in an annual soil sample load of more than 14,000 samples.

The 11-year veteran of MCEs also helped develop a point system to apply fungicides on soybeans and wheat. His wheat disease program prevented a loss of more than two million bushels of wheat in 1982. He also pioneered the Yard and Garden Clinics that reach 14,000 to 20,000 people annually.

Blasigame earned a bachelor's degree from Delta State University, a master's degree from Mississippi State University and a doctorate from Texas A&M University. He serves as secretary-treasurer for the Mississippi Turfgrass Association and is a member of the National Science Foundation. He is also on the Faculty Council for Mississippi State University.

Broome, who joined MCEs seven years ago, received the achievement award for his leadership in pest management programs. He served as coordinator and advisor to a Pest Management Society he helped organize to assist soybean and wheat farmers in controlling diseases and insects.

He uses insecticide and fungicide demonstrations, field days, newsletters and radio spots to promote the program. During a one-year period, many producers who participated in the program increased soybean yields five bushels per acre and wheat yields by 10 to 20 percent.

MINISTER, BAY ST. LOUIS CHURCH OF CHRIST

Have you ever bought a book and then gotten so busy that you forgot about it and put it up on a shelf and then come back to it years later? This week I had that experience with a book by Lola Cheney called, God is No Fool, or "Who Do You Think You're Kidding?"

When I skim read it the first time I wasn't mature enough to understand a thing I was reading. This time however, the words he had to say hit me right between the eyes!

The book is made up of 99 poems that this man has written. Here are a couple that I would like to share with you.

Number One:

Behold, I stand at the door, and knock; if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me."

"Behold I stand at the door and knock." "What door?"

"Behold I stand at the door and knock." "What will it cost to let you in?"

"Behold I stand at the door and knock." "Let me tidy up a bit. I'd be embarrassed to have you see things as they are here, just now."

"Behold I stand at the door and knock." "I'll be so proud to have you come in."

"Behold I stand at the door and knock." "It will truly be an honor, a moving experience, to have you in my humble home."

"Behold I stand at the door and knock." "I want so much for you to come in."

"Behold I stand at the door and knock." "Please, oh please, let yourself in."

"Behold I stand at the door and knock." "Behold I stand..."

"Behold..."

Number Two:

"And now abideth faith, hope, and love, these three;

but the greatest of these is love."

I heard a man say once, "I love Jesus," and he was a liar, and I hated him.

I heard a man say once, "I love Jesus," and he was a phony.

I heard a man say once, "I love Jesus," and I responded to him, "Oh yeah!"

I heard a man say once, "I love Jesus," and I answered, "Jesus who?"

In the silence of my room, in my heart of hearts, I murmured, "I love Jesus." You say it. The smallest verse in the Bible, "Jesus wept."

God surely delights in mercy. We are in such need of it, and he freely gives it. Jericho's chief tax collector, Zaccheus, is a prime example of these principles.

Our candidate for Hancock County NAACP Mother of Year, Gerry Lang, wishes to thank all those who worked and contributed to her cause last weekend.

Tickets and ads for the Fifth Annual Supper Theater, Jan. 14, may be purchased from her as a support of her candidacy.

Our Gospel Choir is sponsoring An Evening of Pleasure for her next Saturday on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Louis White. Come out, enjoy yourself, and support her. There will be a cash bar, free hors d'oeuvres, and games.

Religious instructions will be given for our public school students, grades 6, 7 and 8, after 9 a.m. Mass today.

Weekday classes will be at 3:30 p.m.: Monday, grades 1 and 2; Tuesday, grades 3 and 4; Wednesday, grade 5. Confirmation class will be on Wednesday at 6:30 p.m.

We need your support! Adults $3, Students $2, and Children (5 to 12) $1.50.

Tuesday, All Saints Day, is a holy day of obligation. Be sure to attend Mass to honor especially your patron saint. Masses will be at 6:30 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Tree planting underway on US-90 from Pearllington to Pascagoula

By Phillip Breeze
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

It takes a broadminded person to carry out a statewide program in a way that is unique to each community, but the success of an Extension program can depend on a delicate mix of local initiative and state-level direction.

Bob Chapin is accustomed to taking a broad view of things. He's been a landscape architect and planner for years and is currently coordinator of the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service Land Use Center.

When a chamber of commerce beautification committee chairman came to him for help in making Starkville look better, Chapin set out to design a program for the entire state.

After declaring his "War on Ugliness," Chapin began to devise his battle plans. Working with the Extension Home Economist in each county, Chapin enlisted the aid of local organizations.

In some counties help was secured from historical societies, in others it was the garden club or ladies clubs that led the fight.

Chamber of commerce and Jaycees got involved. Several 4-H clubs organized projects as part of the local effort.

In each area, after a nucleus of soldiers in the fight had been formed, a survey was made. Different counties found different problems. One area might have an abundance of modern buildings, but be burdened by litter and unattractive signs. Another area might have barren streets and decaying buildings.

Frequently the solutions were obvious, and detailed plans were quickly drawn and put into effect. Often, however, tactical support was needed from the landscape and design experts in the Land Use Center.

As plans were made for specific areas they were subjected to a set of seven criteria:

Goals established must be achievable. The focus of a plan must be specific, rather than broad and vague. Plans must provide for almost immediate visual impact.

Plans must call for and achieve broad-based community involvement. Plans must include follow-up provisions so they can be continued from year to year.

Activities and programs to educate and increase awareness and sensitivity must be part of an acceptable plan. The appeal of a plan must be positive, as opposed to negative or threatening.

Chapin made a point of developing plans that required as little help from outside sources as possible. "Not because we didn't want the help, but because a do-it-yourself project is most often carried out," he explained.

Now in its third year, the war on ugliness has involved little if any federal money.

From an original battle plan of eight operations, Chapin's war has grown to include 13 operations. Detailed outlines for the effective execution of each operation are included in

Chapin's "Battle Plan Handbook."

Some of the operations are in effect in almost every county in Mississippi, according to Chapin.

And almost every community involved in the war is carrying out more than one operation. Chapin mentioned several towns and cities notable for their efforts in particular operations.

Decatur, just north of I-20 between Jackson and Meridian, is involved in Operation Clean-up. Planning each year leads up to a week in the spring when the city provides trash bags to all those participating.

The City Council contributes 25 cents to groups and individuals for each bag of trash collected. A local restaurant provides gift certificates for each bag or specified number of bags collected.

Operation Bright Spot is underway in New Albany in northeast Mississippi. This project calls for the beautification of intersections, traffic islands, sidewalks and roadsides.

Garden clubs in the New Albany area chose Red Salvia because of its consistent, enduring color and its tolerance to heat and full sun. Thousands of the plants have been planted along the roads of Union County.

Tupelo has undertaken a comprehensive Operation Tree Cover. Major thoroughfares in and around the city have been identified and surveyed to establish their need for tree cover.

Area residents are encouraged to "give a gift for a lifetime." A $12 donation buys a tree, city crews plant it and the fire department waters it.

No new city funds are needed. The contributor gets a nice certificate and the city has another tree. Hundreds of trees have been planted through this program in the last several months.

Operation Downtown is in progress in Poplarville. In southwest Mississippi, landscape and design experts from the Land Use Center designed a new facade for the entire downtown area of Poplarville.

Thus far all but two of the 35 or 36 stores have adopted the suggested changes at a cost of about $1,000 or less per store owner.

Extension Home Economist Mary Hough said the Poplarville project has made a big difference in this town of 2,250 residents.

The beautification has begun to attract shoppers from New Orleans, 80 miles away, who come to avoid the hurry and congestion of big city shopping.

Two physicians recently moved into the area and both mentioned the appearance of the town as one of the central factors in their decision to move to Poplarville.

Operation Crepe Myrtle is underway in the coastal area of the state. More than 2,000 of the salt resistant plants together with oleanders and hundreds of palm trees have been planted along US-90, the Gulf Coast road running through Mississippi.

The three-county effort is just getting underway along the 100-mile stretch from Pascagoula to Pearllington, but eventually the entire route will be lined with crepe myrtle, oleanders and palm trees.

Chapin said the projects are generally successful and he attributes the success to the fact that the programs are organized, planned, funded, staffed and carried out at the local level.

Poplarville, for example, could have qualified for some federal money but they decided they didn't want it with all the strings it comes attached to.

"We're not showing up and telling these people what they need to do with their town. We're asking their local Extension Home Economist to tell them that we're here to help them do whatever they decide needs to be done," Chapin said.

And the calls keep coming in. From Escatawpa to Arkabutla, from Pinedale to Tishomingo, folks call to ask Chapin's help for what they want to do in their town.

Jackson State accepts bio-med research grant

Jackson State University has received a four-year grant to strengthen its biomedical research capabilities and expand the involvement of faculty and students in its research activities. The funding period extends from September 1983 through August 1987.

The $2,462,174 gift was granted to the university's Minority Biomedical Research Support (MBRS) Program by the Department of Health and Human Services' National Institutes of Health.

A $597,077 award will be provided the first year of the grant, $602,632 the second year, $620,961 the third year, and $641,454 the final year.

Dr. Robert Mack MBRS program director, said the first year award will be used to purchase laboratory equipment and support seminars that will reinforce faculty and student skills in biomedical research and related scientific disciplines.

The funds will also be used for student support, travel to professional meetings, office supplies, and release of faculty from teaching to conduct biomedical research. An administrative component and 11 research projects, which involves 11 faculty members, 12 graduate students and 17 undergraduates, is also being funded by the grant. Program faculty researchers are in the departments of biology, chemistry, and psychology.

The MBRS program has received a total of $6,475,645 from the Department of Health and Human Services since its inception at the university in 1972.

Jackson State began its program to increase the limited number of minority students employed in health-related sciences. A total of 84 students have graduated from the program. Eighteen of the graduates entered medical schools, 54 entered graduate school, and the remaining 12 were employed in other health-related fields.

For more information, call Dr. Mack at 968-2586.

Marketing specialist sings praises of the banana

By Ann O. Rushing
Extension Marketing Specialist

Bananas are perfect for patio parties, barbecues, card-playing casuals, easy-going meals, baseball and football stadium snacks, biking, hiking, picnicking, and many other occasions.

Bananas are quite nutritious. They have about the same number of calories as other fruits—85 calories in a 3 1/2 ounce (a 6 inch) banana. Having almost no fat and containing natural sugars giving quick energy, there are a fairly good source of vitamins C and A, contain a fair amount of calcium and phosphorus. They are an excellent source of potassium.

Because of their mild flavor, easy chewing and digestibility, bananas are particularly useful in the diets of infants; and older people who may have dentures or delicate digestion.

Because of their smooth non-irritating texture, bananas are one of the few fruits that can be eaten raw by ulcer patients.

Bananas must be picked when green. If allowed to ripen on the plant they split open and are tasteless. Therefore, they are cut while still green, then ripened in specially designed ripening rooms in the United States. Both the temperature and the humidity of the ripening room are carefully controlled.

Many fruits are best eaten soon after purchase but bananas can have a more leisurely ripening process at home. Smaller families often find it very convenient to buy green bananas and let them ripen gradually.

Select bananas that are plump, unblemished and bright in appearance. A dull-looking banana often will not ripen properly). Let the stage of ripeness dictate the use of the banana. For many cooking purposes it is best to have the banana firm to the touch, golden but still tinged with green.

When the banana becomes fully ripe it is flecked with brown and is sweet and mellow. This is the stage many people prefer for eating raw. Over-ripe bananas, often at reduced prices, are great for banana bread or cake. Make some and freeze for later use.

At home keep bananas at room temperature until they reach the desired stage of ripeness. If you are not ready to use the ripe bananas it is alright to put them in a plastic bag in the refrigerator. The cold will slow down the ripening process for several days.

The banana peeling will darken but the fruit inside remains good. You may freeze real ripe bananas for use in baking. Simply mash the bananas, add one tablespoon lemon juice per cup of mashed bananas. Seal in freezer box, label and freeze.

Serve bananas any way that suits your fancy. Invite a banana to breakfast. Bananas are instant-quick. Peel and eat. They slice without mess or fuss. Children like the mild flavor of bananas. Adults appreciate their "stay with you" feeling of satisfaction.

Use bananas as a topping with syrup for French toast or pancakes. Make banana eggnog in the blender with eggs, milk, a ripe banana, and a dash of sugar and vanilla. Banana cinnamon toast is a "quickie" with particular appeal for children.

Cover a piece of buttered toast with sliced bananas, sprinkle with cinnamon and sugar and place under a preheated broiler for two minutes.

Bananas are great in fruit salads, but have you thought of adding them to green salads or seafood salad? Bananas are good broiled, glazed, or sauteed. They can be added to main dishes. There are many banana desserts from classic cream pie or a banana cake to bananas flambe'.

POINT OF LAW

Mississippi State Bar

(Prepared by the Mississippi State Bar. Some legal rights may vary from locality to locality. Always consult an attorney when in doubt about your rights.)

Q: Now that I am divorced, I would like to have my will redrawn to make my sister guardian of my six-year-old son if anything should happen to me. The child's father is serving his second sentence in Parchman for robbery, and he does not care about the child. Even if he gets out of prison, I do not think this man should get my son. Can I do this? Can my will hold up in court?

A: Generally, the court will look first to the natural parents to serve as guardians of minor children. No matter what your will says, if your ex-husband is out of prison and has reformed his life at the time of your death, the court may direct that he take charge of the boy.

If you wish to avoid this possibility, you may want to see a lawyer about filing suit to terminate your ex-husband's parental rights. The court will terminate his rights as a parent if it finds that he has abandoned the child or is not a fit parent under the terms of the law.

Q: I just learned that a company is planning to build a plant on the property next to mine. The main plant building will be only 100 yards from my home. I live in the county and there are no zoning ordinances to prevent this. What can I do if this plant causes smoke, odors and noise on my property and pollutes my creek? This will be a fertilizer plant, and I know that this company has had complaints from its neighbors in another part of the state.

A: If the plant creates an unreasonable or excessive amount of smoke, fumes, noise or water pollution, you may file suit to have it declared a nuisance. In such a case, the plant will be required by the court to install devices to remedy the nuisance.

Also, the court will award you damages for an injury of loss you may suffer as a result. You may also contact the state bureau of pollution control to file a complaint.

Q. My two children and I have been getting survivor's benefits ever since my wife died. Will the benefits continue if I remarry?
A. Your remarriage would have no effect on the benefits being paid to your children. If you get benefits only because you are caring for the children, your benefits would end at the time of your remarriage unless you marry someone who is receiving Social Security retirement, disability, widow's, mother's, parent's, or childhood disability benefits.

Q. I am 66 years old. I have already earned almost $6,600 this year at my part-time job, but I have taken home less after taxes and other deductions. Under Social Security, am I allowed to earn $6,600 gross or $6,600 take home pay?
A. In 1983, Social Security beneficiaries aged 65 through 69 may earn gross pay of $6,600 without losing any benefits. Beneficiaries under age 65 may earn gross pay of $4,920. For any earnings above these amounts, $1 of Social Security benefits will be withheld for each $2 earned.
